A large set of courses are available in topics such as Innovation, Data Management, Verbal Communication and Economics. Upon completion of the required courses, you will receive a Stanford SIS Certificate.

INTERNATIONAL CAREER

“I decided to enrol in the double degree programme at Maastricht University, The Netherlands, because of its international recognition and strategic location in Europe. The school offers a broad range of programmes, and the Strategy and Innovation track caught my attention. The diverse modules (Strategy, Finance, Sustainability, etc.) have really broadened my thinking. Maastricht University promotes problem-based learning (PBL), whereby you work in small tutorial groups, engage in hands-on training and attend just a few lectures. This new way of learning helped me to develop both my soft and hard skills. Furthermore, I dramatically expanded my network and tackled several business projects with students from all over the world, which helped me to work better in a multi-cultural environment. I would definitely recommend this experience to other students, as it was a unique learning and life experience for me.”

Luca Tagliarini, Italian
EDHEC – 2020

Apprenticeship Track

As part of the Master in Management, you may choose the Apprenticeship Track. Located on the Paris campus, after an initial 4 months on the Lille campus, this 24-month part-time track has placed more than 1,550 apprentices (125 places per year) with 300 partner companies since 2006. The programme, which alternates one week of classroom attendance and three weeks in-company experience, offers a unique opportunity to combine theory and practice and to develop highly marketable skills. You will receive a monthly salary and the remaining tuition fees are paid by the company. French is highly recommended for positions in France.

“At EDHEC one of the highlights is the international makeup of the class. Working with such a diverse student body opens your eyes to new ways of thinking about problems. It also teaches you to interact with different cultures. Overall, it is both educational and fun! Additionally, EDHEC maintains a very pragmatic approach to learning. The non-traditional nature of learning at EDHEC (flipped classrooms, e-learning, etc.) is great preparation for joining the workforce. You always get the sense that EDHEC is pushing to innovate its pedagogical approach to match the demands of the market. Finally, the Career Center and International Students Office both work very hard to ensure you are able to make the most of your time at EDHEC. Finance with a purpose

We are currently in the midst of a global climate emergency. In order to be able to meet the Paris Agreement goals, all industries must make strategic investment decisions which will alter their current path.

Such important decisions need to be taken now. If we delay addressing the need for emission reductions this will have long-lasting implications.

The financial industry is not generally one that first comes to mind when thinking about large contributors to global warming. Yet, finance is central to finding a solution.

EDHEC Business School is committed to expanding its coverage of climate change and sustainability topics in its curriculum. Our new MSc in Climate Change & Sustainable Finance is the latest step in that direction.

Whichever track choice you make, by joining EDHEC Master in Financial Economics, you will not only benefit from a cutting-edge and top-rated finance education but you will also be ready to undertake tomorrow's challenges and be equipped to pursue a successful career.

We will ensure that you get the necessary exposure to the financial industry through case studies, conferences, recruitment sessions and networking with corporate sponsors and top-tier recruiters.

Your talents will be nurtured.

Your skillset will be honed.

By completing your finance education at EDHEC, you will be prepared to have a positive impact on the world and society.

“I particularly appreciated EDHEC’s programme structure and the opportunity to ‘build my own degree’. EDHEC’s high rankings, especially for its finance programmes, meant that I had access to first class opportunities (both professional – internships, jobs, VIE – and academic), a strong network and a renowned faculty. In addition, I was lucky enough to be selected for the co-financed scholarship, which allowed me to focus on my degree and not worry about finances. Getting a job is a concern for many students when they first think of grad schools. EDHEC’s Career Centre has been there for me every step of the way. Most of all (if not all) of my classmates ended up doing wonderful (and highly diversified) internships. I spent my gap year interning at BAML, BNP Paribas and Market Securities. In these past three years, I have grown a lot both professionally and academically. I have also made friends from around the world!”

“I chose EDHEC for many reasons. Firstly, EDHEC is globally renowned for its speciality in finance. Secondly, the alumni network that EDHEC has developed is second to none; Thirdly, the location in Nice is truly stunning.

The culture in this great city is second to none and there is so much to absorb. The amount of growth I have achieved both personally and professionally in such a short period of time has been exceptional. The way EDHEC has constructed the MSc in Finance has enabled me to reach the next level on multiple skillsets. Firstly, as EDHEC promotes a collaborative work ethic through multiple group assignments, my team-working, listening and communication skills have improved significantly. Secondly, as EDHEC promotes verbal assessment through presentations, this has allowed me to gain insights into how I can captivate an audience with the way I present data or any complicated information.”
